Points of Light Award

In September, Martin Stone, the director of Muswell Hill Soup Kitchen, received the Points of Light award for his innovative website 'Next Meal' which lists the nearest open soup kitchen where the homeless can find food and support.

Points of Light was first established by President George H. W. Bush in 1990 and over 6,000 US Points of Light have been recognised in the USA. UK Points of Light was developed in partnership with the US programme and launched in the Cabinet Room at 10 Downing Street in April 2014. Since then hundreds of people have been named Points of Light by the Prime Minister, highlighting an enormous array of inspirational volunteering across the length and breadth of Britain. Every weekday the Prime Minister recognises an inspirational volunteer with the Daily Point of Light award.

The website was launched to help direct homeless people to places where they can access food and support on a 24-hour basis. Martin was inspired by seeing technology at bus stops showing when to expect the next service to develop a similar service that could benefit homeless people. The website is designed to use GPS to help people find their nearest place of support and is easily accessible on mobile phones. Since launching the website earlier this year, 'Next Meal' is helping more than 40 rough sleepers a day in London and has connected with over 120 community support centres.

Catherine West, MP for Hornsey and Wood Green, who presented Martin with the award, said "I'm delighted that Martin Stone is receiving this award. The rise in rough sleepers is a stain on our society and too many vulnerable people are slipping through the cracks, struggling to access the support they need. 'Next Meal' is a practical response to the human stories behind the statistics and, thanks to Martin's work, it's helping homeless people across London every day".

Martin said "I'm very surprised, thrilled and humbled by this award. I just had a simple idea and, with the help of others, turned it into a reality. I encourage everyone wherever they are, and what circumstances they are in, to just go out and enjoy doing the same.

"There are so many kind people in so many organisations offering so much help to the most vulnerable homeless people. I have been fortunate to work with many of them through the 'Muswell Hill Churches Soup Kitchen'. 'Next Meal' has grown out of that and tries to use technology in the most efficient way possible to link people in need with the wonderful local provision available all around the country. I am delighted that so early in its development, my work in 'Next Meal', which is in fact the work of many, has been recognised as a Point of Light. This award has inspired us all in our efforts to help our disadvantaged homeless to access the support that might enable them to turn their lives around."

We are delighted to announce that Patricia Pearl, who was on the MHFGA committee in the 1980s, has agreed to be the independent examiner of our accounts.

Roz with husband Michael

I was evacuated to Montreal in Canada during the war with my mother and two older brothers. On my return to England, I remember sailing down the Manchester Canal, aged six, throwing bananas to the children on the canal side, which they had never seen before! I went to a co-educational boarding school which was vegetarian, had an organic farm, and was very keen on art, music and dance. After that, I went to art school.

I moved to Creighton Avenue in Muswell Hill in the 1950s. I remember the original Sainsbury's at the roundabout, sitting outside the Express Dairy, having tea, which is now The Mossy Well. There were hardly any cars on the roads at all. I then met and married Michael, a doctor who was originally from Birmingham. Our first child, Rebecca was born, and we went to San Francisco for a year on a Rockefeller Travelling Fellowship. We arrived the day before John F. Kennedy was assassinated in November 1963. We lived near Haight Ashbury.

On our return to England in 1965, we bought a house in Wood Vale, with a garden full of roses backing on to Queen's Wood. I remember the paddling pool with its changing rooms there. We had three more children – Jonathan, Jeremy and Nathan, all of whom went to Highgate Primary School. We joined Muswell Hill Synagogue and I became the chairperson of the Sunday school classes for which I did the fundraising. I also did the same for Highgate Primary to buy additional equipment and resources. One time, I asked Nick Mason of the band Pink Floyd, whose children were at the school, if he could get us a real Womble of Wimbledon to come to the annual summer fete.

I then joined art classes at the Camden Institute and exhibited at the Highgate Art Society, the Islington Art Society and various other galleries over many years. I worked mainly in oils, watercolours and charcoal. My paintings of Pond Square were particularly popular. I went swimming in the Ladies' Pond on Hampstead Heath, a wonderful place, over many years, including one winter when it was minus two degrees!

My husband Michael had a very successful career in the National Health Service, working his way up to Deputy Chief Medical Officer in the Department of Health. On his retirement, he became Chairperson of the Whittington Hospital NHS Trust. Michael was a keen gardener and still enjoys doing the cryptic crosswords and playing bridge.

The restoration team at Alexandra Palace are delighted that the Theatre and East Court openings are now in sight. The East Wing Restoration Project has seen these two spaces undergo a two-year transformation that is finally finishing at the end of this year.

The theatre has been restored in a state of 'arrested decay' whilst being brought up to modern standards – main interventions included work to the floor, ceiling, and balcony. The East Court has been reinvigorated and will be the main visitor hub with a Learning Zone opening in early 2019.

Tickets are on sale for the first season of shows this December which includes singing, comedy, and of course a family pantomime. Visit theatre.alexandrapalace.com to find out more. If you wrote your name into the history of the project by donating £25 or more you will soon be able to see your name on the donor board, and for those who donated £100 or more an exclusive preview tour will be happening in late November.

The theatre set up for BBC Proms open rehearsal on 1st September

Saturday 3rd November – Laser show: 7.30pm, fireworks: 8pm

I joined MHFGA some years ago. John Hajdu and his committee do an excellent job and the magazine is so interesting. I'm hopeless with computers so I have offered to do some gardening and help on the stall.

Finally, over the last twenty-eight years, I have been involved with the Crouch End Open Spaces (CREOS), looking after the lovely area which backs onto Wood Vale, Cranley Gardens and Park Road, with a very secluded meadow, woods and walks. For ten years I was its secretary. Looking back to when I arrived, fifty-three years ago, Muswell Hill was so different then. But I love the area and would hate to move anywhere else.

Muswell Hillbilly Brewers

Muswell Hillbilly Brewers are Mart Dude (Head Brewer), Pistol Pete (Sales) and Bob (Design) who run a small microbrewery located in 24-26 Avenue Mews N10. We are local people who run a brewery, a bottle shop in Wood Green and now a Tap Room, as well as having full time jobs as a Deputy Headteacher, Accounts Manager and Graphic Designer respectively.

Our new tap room is located a few doors down from the Brewery in Avenue Mews and is a continuation of our intention to sell directly to local people, as well as promoting our own and other local businesses. The Mews is made up of small craft businesses, which include two vintage clothing and furniture shops, a joinery workshop, arts and music studios as well as our own craft brewery. We hope the Tap Room will bring further business to Avenue Mews, enhancing its reputation as the 'Creative Hub of Muswell Hill' and promoting its growing community feel. Already part of the Mews and as local people, we are ideally placed to work with other businesses to sensitively promote an area which is often described as Muswell Hill's 'best kept secret'.

Our Tap Room has kegs and casks selling our own and other local craft beers. We also sell natural wines and artisanal spirits, and have fridges containing bottled beers, wine and soft drinks. Hillbilly beers are hand made locally, containing N10 hops grown in Muswell Hill gardens. Our core beers are:

Muswell Hillbilly - a light, hoppy and refreshing IPA.
Tetherdown - a wheat Saison, infused with lemon and Bergamot.
N10- a tropical pale ale infused with grapefruit.
Palace Sunset - a malty and citrusy red ale, the caramel base infused with blood red orange.
Down the Colney Hatch - a smoky, chocolatey Porter.
Avenue Mews - a black, malty and hoppy IPA.
Fortis Green - an oat breakfast stout infused with coffee provided by W Martyn, Muswell Hill.

The Muswell Hillbilly Brewers Tap Room's current opening times are- Friday 6-10pm, Saturday 12noon to 10pm. We also plan along with other businesses in the Mews to organise small one-off events on Thursday evenings and Sunday afternoons.

We hope to see you all at the Muswell Hillbilly Brewers Tap Room soon!

Loyal customers have followed the garage from the initial East Finchley location to the current location in Muswell Hill, and now Mark and Wayne are delighted to see their children come in to service their cars.

Mark and Wayne have many years' experience of looking after their customers, who trust them to make sure their cars are reliable and safe, at sensible prices. Odd One Out

The competition during the summer holidays this year was even more successful than last year, with 71 children taking part. There was a lot of excitement on the last day with children making the final effort to get their answer sheets in. 36 children got all the answers correct. The winners received a free ticket to the Everyman Cinema.

Thanks to Zoe Norfolk and others who helped organise the event and to the businesses that took part. The children of Muswell Hill will be happy to learn that we will be running Odd One Out again next year!

BBC young musician for North London concert

Local music-lovers who heard the brilliant young cellist Ariana Kashefi play with the North London Symphony Orchestra at St James's Church last June can look forward to hearing an even younger outstanding performer as the soloist in the orchestra's next concert, on 1st December. He is Jack Campbell, who two years ago, at the age of 15, won the keyboard category of the BBC Young Musician of the Year competition.

Jack, who is now in his first term at the Royal College of Music (where, as it happens, Ariana also studied), will play the 5th piano concerto by Saint-Saëns. With its opulent, late Romantic score and demanding solo part this work is known as "the Egyptian concerto", since it was written when the composer was on holiday in the ancient city of Luxor on the Nile and features a "Nubian love song" and the croaking of Nile frogs. It also shows influences from the East more generally, with instrumentation that includes a tam-tam of the sort used in Indonesian gamelan

Flyposting

Members will probably have noticed that throughout the summer there have been masses of posters for circuses and funfairs around the Broadway. The Association's anti-graffiti and flyposting team have removed literally hundreds of them.

These posters are not pasted but fixed round the edges with sellotape and so are easy to remove. Just pull back the tape in one place, pull and the whole thing will come away very easily. The remains can be disposed of in a litter bin, of which there are many in the Broadway. It is quite a satisfying thing to do.

If you do not want to get so hands on, please report the flyposting to the Haringey website and the council's contractor will do the removal. The same applies to graffiti, dumped rubbish and many other categories which you will see on the drop-down menu on the website, including "dead animal on the highway".

Jack Whitehead

CPZ

On 17th August a group of Muswell Hill traders met with MP Catherine West and Councillor Adam Jogee to voice concerns about the forthcoming CPZ affecting some of Muswell Hill's residential streets.

They fear that that shoppers will not be able to park in nearby streets and that will put them off coming to Muswell Hill. They are also concerned that they themselves will not be able to find places to park and would like the rules for obtaining business permits to be relaxed.

In their reply the Council said it tries to balance the needs of both residents and businesses in the area. During the public consultation the single greatest cause of parking congestion in roads wanting parking controls was reported as shoppers and businesses taking up spaces in residential roads. The Council stressed that it was their policy to encourage sustainable means of transport and to discourage commuter parking. They reiterated that there is short term parking available for shoppers and some business permits are available but they are not prepared to increase this.

Wild Wolf Explorer Scout Unit Firework Display - 3rd November

Now in its tenth year, our family-friendly community fireworks event has come a long way since the first display. This year we have an amazing array of food and drink stalls, all run by Wild Wolf Explorers along with Explorers and Scouts from other groups. Plus there'll be the chance to experience a proper Scout campfire with songs and marshmallow toasting.

All stalls will be available during both the low-noise Display and Feature Display slots, allowing you to soak up the atmosphere and witness youth-led Scouting at its finest. The fireworks will then provide a fitting end to an amazing event. For more details on the timings of the two different displays, see our website wildwolfesu.org/fireworks

For the second year running we'll be hosting a Low-Noise display too, for younger children and those with sensory requirements.

Tickets are available at wildwolfesu.org/tickets.
